Sponsorship opportunities are offered exclusively to ACPC's invited speakers and the corporations/law firms of ACPC's regular or emeritus members. The opportunity for a vendor to attend an ACPC meeting is unique and requires that attendee(s) representing the vendor agree to avoid overtly "selling" their services to members during or after the meeting. Additionally, attendees are expected to respect the confidentiality of members and information that is shared during the meeting in order to encourage free and open dialogue amongst the members.
